Organic Ginger Juice is the perfect kick to add to beverages such as ginger beer, chai, and blended juices. Its root date back to one of the most ancient spices in worldwide cuisine, but recently it has seen a shift in its applications.

Ginger-infused products have gained popularity in new products, from ginger shots to flavored-sparkling water drinks, kombucha, ginger tea, and many more. Full of rich tangy flavor and packed with health benefits, it is no surprise that the ingredient is trending!

Our organic ginger is sustainably farmed, fresh from our prime sourcing region of Peru, and turned into tasty juice in our proprietary production process. With sustainability and organic farming at the heart of their business, our suppliers hold certifications in Organic, Fair trade, and Demeter certifications.

By controlling its production from farm to table, Tradin delivers exceptional cold-pressed ginger juice that is healthy, easy, and 100% organic while guaranteeing a fair price and working conditions to its partners. Try it yourself and taste the intensity!

ORGANIC GINGER JUICE

Origin Story: Organic Ginger Juice

Our project started in 2018. Tradin Organic connected with producers of organic ginger root and quickly established partnerships with trusted local facilities to produce organic ginger juice. From there, we produced the first two containers of ginger juice, and in 2020 we developed a post-harvest treatment for industrial-grade ginger with a technical specification that extracts the best root for juice extraction while maintaining food safety.

The demand for organic ginger leads to an increased income for local farmers and a welcomed source of employment for facility workers in Peru.

Tradin closely collaborates with farmers and supports them by paying them for the root at the beginning of the project.

Beyond Organic

Together with our local partners, we work on the social development of the farmer's communities to drive positive social impact. For example, by organizing workshops where farmers, workers and their families participate together to receive training on topics such as nutrition, early childhood education and other topics that help them to strengthen their livelihoods.
